Hunt whistle

Australian web activist
by the US over the leak

JASON BOURNE HAS NOTHING ON Julian Assange. Since the Melburnian behind the whistleblowing website WikiLeaks released classified US military footage on April 5, he has apparently been wanted by the US government. "I don't think he would be safe, even physically, entirely, wherever he is," US whistleblower Daniel Ellsberg told ABC-TV's Foreign Correspondent.

The secret video, which was filmed from US Apache helicopter, shows apparently unarmed men, including journalists and news photographers, being shot down in Baghdad in 2007. The US Army had allegedly mistaken the rucksacks and cameras for weaponry. "I was disturbed," says Icelandic parliamentarian Birgitta Jónsdóttir, who produced the video for WikiLeaks (the organisation operates from various countries, including Iceland). "I have been watching the horror of war for a long time, but this was taking it to a new level."

While WikiLeaks vehemently protects its sources, US soldier Bradley Manning, who served in Iraq, has been arrested in the US "releasing classified information," and Assange is reportedly wanted for questioning by US intelligence. The 38-year-old, who studied medicine,

Surgeon Michael Miroshnik notes Fox "had a wider jaw" at age 18. "Her new appearance could have been achieved with jaw-reshaping surgery or a chin implant."

"The overall impression is of a fuller face in certain areas," says Miroshnik, who suspects surgical intervention.

Surgery is rumoured to be behind her transformed looks

MEGAN FOX'S sculptured appearance at the June 17 premiere of Jonah Hex has fuelled speculation her famous looks have had a surgeon's helping hand.

Rumoured to have had a nose job, breast implants, a Botox brow lift and lip injections before finding fame with 2007's Transformers, Fox, 24, has denied surgery claims, telling US Allure, "You can clearly see that my lips are my lips." But Sydney cosmetic plastic surgeon Dr Michael Miroshnik suspects otherwise. Suggesting Fox "recently filled her lips with a large volume of injectable filler," Miroshnik, who has not treated the star, also notes her upper cheekbones appear "wider"—a look that can be achieved with "cheek implants or the injections of fat or fillers." Regardless, he adds, "the loss of volume in her lower cheeks makes her appear much older than her 24 years." ■

"It's wonderful I'm viewed as a sex symbol," said Fox (with on-again fiancé Brian Austin Green in Los Angeles on April 17).

HORROR MOVIE

"It was important that it got the attention it deserved," says Birgitta Jónsdóttir, of the secret US Army video (right) that she produced for release under the name Collateral Murder. The video was collated in Iceland, which has "the world's strongest press and whistle-blower protection laws," said Julian Assange.
